HON. A. P. JOHNSON ADDRESSES LUNCHEON CLUB.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Luncheon Club Hon. A. P. Johnson of Carrizo Springs, Representative in the Texas Legislature from the 77th District, addressed the membership on the proposed constitutional amendment to be voted on at the November election.

Mr. Johnson was introduced as the man who it is hoped will bring to the 77th District the honor and distinction of furnishing the next Speaker of the House, and because of his experience well qualified to discuss the amendments. Mr. Johnson discussed all nine briefly, explaining the salient points of each and leaving it to his hearers to judge of the merits of each one severally. He is the author of one of the proposals and if adopted at the election in Nov. it will simplify the redemption by its owner of property that has been sold for taxes.

His remarks were favorably received, and it is to be regretted that he hadn't time for a more extended discussion.

Preceding the repast the members were favored with a violin concert by the violinists of the Hondo Orchestra, under direction of Ed Armstrong, Jr., which was highly enjoyable. Special features were a cello solo by Miss Mary Lois Barnes and a reading by Miss Minnie Margaret Howard. The program committee is to be congratulated on the high class of entertainment provided.

President Garland Martin was present for the first time in several weeks, having absented himself while on a special diet. The Club was glad to welcome his return.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE ORGANIZED.

A baseball league known as the Twilight League was organized last week. The purpose of the league is to create interest in baseball and also as a recreation for the unemployed and working men. All games will be played on the plaza after 6 o'clock, which will be convenient for all working people to see the games.

Th four teams are: Case's Canaries managed by Walter Case (of the St. Louis Cardinals); Barry's Bumble Bees, managed by J. G. Barry; Bless' Veterans, managed by Bootie Bless, and Magnolia Blues, managed by Her-

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

To The Graduate.

"Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way?"

"By taking heed thereunto according to Thy Word." Psalm 19, 9.

Full of pep, ambitious, vivacious and confident the young man and young woman step from the threshold of the educational institution, looking for worlds that need conquering and ready to conquer those worlds. It is a glorious day, commencement! The end is called the commencement? Many problems have been wrestled with and ultimately solved. But life's problem is not yet solved. Many problems of the head have been dealt with. But the question of the heart remains. How can modern youth face the world to become a useful citizen? How can he be assured of a place for himself in this life, be reasonably certain of long life and good days, a happy home and success? The welfare of the whole nation depends upon our youth. The happiness and security of our homes depend upon our youth. The strength and growth of the church depends upon youth. Why should not the boy and the girl, every one of us be concerned and ask: "Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way?"

The answer is not to be found in going to college, as much as we should like to see all our youth receive a college training. The answer is not to be found in any modern methods of reckless abandon. There is an old-fashioned answer, and yet as true and as efficient as the world is old: "By taking heed thereunto, according to Thy Word." Youth's activity must have the moral background, the religious foundation. The Master of Life itself, Jesus Christ, can alone lead you on a clean path, a safe path through life. Take heed to His word. "He that abideth in Me and I in Him, the same bringeth forth much fruit; for without Me ye can do nothing."

We are glad to know that four of our Lutheran youth will graduate in the 1932 classes. From Hondo High School, they are: Irene Mechler, Hedwig Nester, Irene Neuman. One of our boys has completed the course at Yancey High School, namely Roy Hartman. We join our friends in wishing these young people and all others who have completed their respective courses, God's richest blessings in their future days. Godspeed for a useful and happy career!

On next Sunday morning the German service will begin at 10:00 o'clock instead of the usual time, 10:30. We shall be dismissed in time to join in the Baccalaureate service at the high school at 11:00 o'clock.

There will be church at night next Sunday beginning at 8 o'clock. Our graduates are especially invited to be present at this service. The sermon will deal with a subject of particular interest to young people. Everyone is invited to worship with us at all services.

BAPTIST NEWS NOTES.

Our Bible School will be held next Sunday morning, beginning promptly at 10 o'clock. We beg our people to attend promptly. The School will adjourn promptly at 10:45, so that we all may attend the Exercises at the School auditorium. So there will be no preaching services at our meeting house. However, since we give up the morning services, we will return to the church at eight o'clock in the evening for preaching, for worship. Again, we ask that our people and friends come to the house of God, at the evening hour. We certainly should not permit ourselves to drift into the dangerous habit of worshipping our ease and meaningless pastimes. What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his soul; or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? Meet the Pastor at the evening hour.

Rev. R. W. Merritt.

CLEAN UP!

County Health Officer, Dr. W. H. Smith, designated the week of May 16th to 21st as cleanup week for the town. If you have refuse about your premises not yet disposed of, the county will remove it for you free under certain conditions. Gather it together at once. Ring Ray Jennings, Chairman of Committee on Clean-up, at phone No. 125 and secure this service now while it is available. Make Hondo a clean town.

THURSDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

The Thursday Bridge Club was cleverly entertained with a Depression Bridge, one afternoon last week, with Mrs. L. J. Brucks as hostess. The bridge tables were covered with brown wrapping paper with a placard decoration "Depression is On!" Bridge appointments also carried out the chosen theme.

After several games of bridge, Mrs. O. B. Taylor was presented a sack of groceries for high score, and Mrs. L. E. Heath received ten pounds of sugar for low. In a contest of finding words in "Depression", Mrs. H. J. Meyer won a can of peas for getting the smallest number.

The hostess then served sandwiches and tea, the "hard times" motif being unusually featured in the use of paper plates and the absence of napkins.

Those present were Mesdames O. B. Taylor, L. E. Heath, H. J. Meyer, O. H. Miller, T. B. Knopp, Earl Starnes, R. J. Noonan, R. W. Speece, W. H. Smith, J. M. Fingerr and Miss Lillian Brucks, and the hostess, Mrs. L. J. Brucks.

GRADUATES HONORED.

The W. W. W. Class of the Methodist Sunday School entertained with a delightful dinner at the home of Mrs. J. G. Newton on Wednesday, May 18, honoring the graduates of the class.

At six o'clock the girls were called to the lavishly laden table. Pink and lavender sweetpeas and green tapers adorned the table. The guests found gifts from their teacher, Mrs. Newton, at their places. Between courses Mrs. Newton gave a toast to the graduates.

Those enjoying the affair were the honorees: Misses Mary Lois Barnes, Thelma Wilson, Lucille Van Fleet, Evelyn Kimmey, Dorothy Ann Eckhart, Jeanette Merritt; and the hostesses: Mrs. J. G. Newton, Misses Mary Ruth Cameron, Dorothy Ulbrich, Orar Harilee, and Ierne Bakulop.

The class regretted that Miss Dwyce Cameron was unable to attend due to illness.

The class was assisted by Mrs. L. B. Murrill.

FRIDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

One of the most charming spring parties was given by Mrs. Elsie Warden at her home Friday afternoon roses and vari-colored sweet peas were used for decoration of the rooms where seven tables for bridge were arranged.

Mrs. Alfred Schweers held high score for guests and received a lovely bag. Miss Hodges received two decks of cards for low. Mrs. L. L. Dorsey, sister of Mrs. Warden received a bracelet.

Lovely refreshments of punch, sandwiches and cake were served to the following: Mesdames Connevey, A. Schweers, Bohlen, Taylor, Crow, Murray, F. Schweers, Merriman, Reilly, Monkhouse, Lacy, Holloway, Martin, Speece, Knopp, Beal, Wright, and Dorsey. Misses Howard, Fawcett, Hodges, Carle, Heatly, Chamberlain, Adamcik, Cameron, Schweers, Tweedy, and Boyd.

Mrs. Warden was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Bradley and sister Mrs. Jean Mofield.

METHODIST CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Everyone is urged to come a little earlier to Sunday school Sunday morning that we may have plenty of time to finish by 10:45 as the eleven o'clock service is being surrendered for the Baccalaureate services at the school. Sunday school is to begin at 9:30.

There will be services at the evening hour; time, 8:15. Subject: "Getting Ready for the Revival". It is important that everyone come, as everyone is or should be interested. Are you ready, do you know how to get ready? It is important that everyone come to think and act in harmony. Let us come together to think on these things.

Pastor.

NOTICE, ROYAL ARCH MASONS.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

On Monday afternoon, May 16,
Mrs. J. Gordon Barry entertained little Miss Maybeth Barry and her beth's third birthday.

The children enjoyed a delightful time outside playing "drop-the-and-turn pinning on the donkey's tail.

Garland Martin, Jr., was the most successful at this undertaking and received a story book as a prize. The children were then given a fishing pole and allowed to fish for such favors as balls, dolls, toy horses, tops, marbles, etc.

Maybeth was delighted with the many beautiful and useful gifts which she received.

Refreshments consisting of red lemonade, cake and ice cream cones were served to the following little guests: Tommy Finger, John Earl

A FEATURE PRODUCTION COMING.

The Parent-Teachers organization is to stage a large feature production on June 21st and 22nd. "The Flapper Grandmother", is to be given by 100 local people.

The executive board of the P. T. A. met on May 12th with a representative of the Wayne P. Sewell Producing Co., Atlanta, Ga., and made arrangements for one of the outstanding successes of 1932, "The Flapper Grandmother", to be staged on June 21st and 22nd in Hondo. This production is something entirely new and decidedly different in the way of entertainment and promises to be the greatest social event of the season. It takes approximately 100 local people to present this elaborate event and th costumes, which is furnished by the company, is unusual and spectacular and newspaper reports throughout the entire United States praise this unusual show.

All signs point to "The Flapper Grandmother" being the high spot of entertainment in Hondo community and has been the case all over the entire country.

No one should miss attending "The Flapper Grandmother" at the school auditorium on June 21st and 22nd. Watch for further details in regard to this remarkable production.

SERVICE.

From The Owl.

"Service" as defined by Webster is the performance of labor for the benefit of others. To serve is to love and vice versa to love is to serve. In the early days of England a person's worth was determined by the amount of service he gave to the King. Today our usefulness or our real worth depends upon the service which we are enabled to render to others. The person who has never tasted the joy of doing for others has not really lived.

"Service" is indeed a potent word, even the letters which go to make up the word when analyzed bring out a worthwhile lesson. The first letter "S" might stand for "Sacrifice". To serve one must make a sacrifice of one's desires and often of one's comfort.

The "e" in service might stand for Education, that which alone can double our service to others. Education broadens our field of usefulness and makes us see the glory in service.

"Righteousness" may represent the "r" in service. In order to be of use to others one must be upright and worthy. This quality alone can fit him to be an example and a help to those about him.

The "v" in service is represented by "vision". Without vision or a high purpose true usefulness is impossible.

The "i" in the word represents "Ideals". In history we find the statement that "a man without ideals has the same viewpoint as a man without a country."

"Courage" is represented by the "c" in service. Courage is necessary to the person who would be a success. Many things will arise in the making of a useful character that will require courage. The one without courage is doomed to failure.

The last letter, the "e" in service, surely means "Enthusiasm". As long as is the road to success and true service, enthusiasm will insure a safe arrival at the goal.

These qualities: Sacrifice, education, righteousness, vision, ideals, courage, and enthusiasm, are those that go to prepare a person for service and leadership.

MANNERS.

From The Owl.

Manners differ in different countries, but true politeness is everywhere the same. Politeness is the result of good sense, good breeding and good nature. It is our duty to interest ourselves in good manners and to practice them, for good morals. Good manners begin at home. They are not learned so much as acquired by constant use. If we wish to be courteous, kind and agreeable among strangers, we must be the same at home. Manners become a kind of second nature with us.

Some people think they can act just any way and "get by" with it just because they have a little more money or a higher social position than others. Usually their faults are overlooked because of the fact that they are wealthy and because no one wants the job of correcting them, but in our own minds we lower our opinions of them. One of the most marked tests of our characters is the manner in which we conduct ourselves toward others. We should always be willing to do someone a favor. That which is done with a grudge or with an air of condescen-

"What's the best reason for having a telephone?" we inquired.

Said Mr. McCarthy:

"You never know when you'll get a business call at home. And during the day, it's a fine thing to know the Missus can call you, if thing's go wrong."

Said Mrs. McCarthy:

"Well, I'll admit I enjoy 'visiting' on the telephone. And it does save a world of trips to the grocery, the drug store, the cleaners and the like. What if we should need the doctor, or the police, or the fire department?"

Perhaps you do not have a telephone at home. If not, we really believe you're missing something. If you're interested, call the business office.

FAY WRAY IN

"STOWAWAY"

Show Starts 8:00

By Fred W. Davis, Austin, Texas.

For several weeks the Congress has been in a veritable storm over provisions for raising revenue. Leaders of both parties have been in general agreement that in order to raise something like one and one-fourth billions of dollars resort must be had to a general sales tax. But there was such a strong protest the leaders in the house were compelled to modify their bill until the general sales tax feature was practically abandoned, and even then it required every available influence upon the members to secure its passage.

The government is heavily in the red and the running expenses for the first half of the fiscal year were in excess of last year for the same period. The leaders seem unwilling to impose further taxes upon the rich and incomes have fallen off from all sources. No one will defend the sales tax but they insist the budget must be balanced in order to save the credit of the government and avoid an intensive prolongation of the present panic. The Congress seems concerned only in how to raise a vast amount of revenue without too seriously jeopardizing its personnel.

Maybe it is the difference of environment which causes congressmen to think one way and the laymen another. I believe the following represents the general thought of the average citizen. Just why is it necessary to have an annual government expense of some four billion dollars? Why not relieve the acute strain of balancing the budget by first reducing the budget about 50 per cent? Then in raising an absolutely necessary budget why not make those pay who are able to pay, like we make those fight who are able to fight, when the nation goes to war? Is a rich man's wealth more sacred in a national crisis than a young man's life? Just why should our government be a debtor or borrower anyway? Are we really a very wealthy nation? If so, why is it so difficult to raise necessary revenues? If just taxes upon the resources and productive power of the nation are not sufficient to keep it on a peace-time cash basis how can its credit be good?

Instead of being frightened stiff over the question of our ability to borrow, why don't we coin our silver bullion, (a natural resource), into money and supplement that if necessary with treasury issues to a per capita amount necessary for a progressive transaction of business? Is not this the power granted to the Congress, (and the Congress only), by the constitution? Why ride the people with taxes admitted to be unjust and objectionable when our constitution purposely delegated to the Congress the power to issue money and to regulate its value?

The coinage and issuance of money would stabilize its value and make business ventures less hazardous. Money should be neither too cheap nor too high—relatively speaking. Money is now too high and the Congressman who refuses to take steps to make money cheaper is deliberately keeping the prices of American products low.

To one whose small holdings are being confiscated by the government through its tax gatherers, it looks like the willful refusal of the Congress to exercise its unquestioned authority and bring relief to an overburdened citizenry is little short of treason. This could and should be approached from both sides. Raise the value of production by increasing the volume of money and reduce public expenses by abolishing numerous meddlesome activities and stop extravagance in

Here's Corn That Will Make Money

CORN, being one of the major items produced on American farms, deserves ample fertilization.

Above we picture a section of the corn field of B. C. Holland, of Holland, Va. "Junior" seems as well pleased as his father with the splendid condition of this corn.

In this field the rows were sidedressed with Arcadian Nitrate of Soda which accounts for its perfect condition.

While soil conditions vary in different sections of the South, better corn and bigger profits will result from sidedressing with approximately 150 lbs. of Nitrate of Soda about six weeks after planting when the stalks should be about eighteen to twenty inches high.

Carefully supervised tests have proved that not profits are increased amazingly if this is done.

The question of money, (especially silver coinage), is one of long standing. To my mind there never was a reason for a single money standard that was fundamentally sound, but there were practical excuses in times past.

When the value of world wide products were based upon the English pound and England chose to have a theoretical gold standard which was followed by many other commercial nations, practical financiers argued we must comply with this commercial rule. But now world products are valued in dollars and most all commercial countries have abandoned the single standard, including England, therefore, the old argument or excuse is no longer valid. Added to this is the acute necessity for a material increase in circulating money which is, perhaps, the only means of restoring business. And above all we have a grand object lesson in the almost immediate benefits in using both gold and silver as it has functioned in England. England has come out of the red, meeting her obligations and rapidly dispelling national gloom, by adopting a double money standard.

At the same time conditions in this country grow more acute and France is gradually losing ground, both operating under a theoretical gold standard.

What spell has the big international bankers, (the big gamblers in the value of money), thrown over the members of Congress that they can see this nation stand on the verge of revolution, the homes of its citizens confiscated, and millions suffer for bare necessities and refuse to give relief because it would interfere with the money vultures who are fattening off the misery of the world.

Patronize FARMING'S advertisers.

YAM INDUSTRY NEEDS UNIFORM MARKETING, INSPECTION SERVICE.

Uniform marketing and inspection service is the next major step in development of the sweet potato industry, which has advanced to a rank of seventh in value of all Texas farm products within the past few years, according to E. T. Crozier, chief inspector in the sweet potato certification program of the Department of Agriculture.

At the present time, sweet potatoes shipped out of Texas pest free zones are not uniformly packed or graded and for that reason the high quality of yams grown in Texas is not recognized in northern and eastern markets to the extent they would justify, Crozier said.

He pointed out that Louisiana growers of sweet potatoes benefit by a state law requiring uniform packing and grading, and called attention to the fact that state inspection service for products of the Rio Grande Valley has been of material aid to producers of that area. The same character of service is needed for the sweet potato industry, he said.

A marketing association, now being proposed by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, could be of great value to the Texas sweet potato producers in securing better marketing conditions, he declared. The association would direct the culling and grading of yams sent to out of state markets and in that manner make for stabilization of the grade shipped from Texas. Under the present plan, the marketing association would be financed by the producers giving to the association the five per cent commission that brokers now get.

Crozier said that the association should permit the shipping of only high quality, U. S. No. 1 potatoes, which could be labeled with the East Texas Chamber of Commerce copyrighted "Etex" label. All interested in the potato industry could become members of the organization, although it would be mainly for the marketing of the product.

He further pointed out that an association could aid in the establishment of curing plants in the sweet potato areas, which are badly needed.

In three years the Department of Agriculture has assisted in advancing the sweet potato industry, both in production and in market outlets, to a great extent. By the establishment of a sweet potato certification program and pest free areas, infestations of the ravaging sweet potato weevil, once the bane of the yam grower, have been curbed. Through intrastate control of the movement of sweet potatoes from infested areas and permitting yams from only pest free areas to go out of Texas, many states have opened their markets to Texas potatoes. Oklahoma, Arkansas, Arizona and Louisiana are among those who have lifted their quarantines against Texas potatoes as a result of the Department's activities and splendid cooperation of the growers.

The rank of seventh in the value of Texas farm crops was attained for the season from August, 1930, to August, 1931, when 109,000 acres planted to the yam yielded $7,248,000. The income for the season ending August, 1932, for which figures are not yet available, is expected to be materially higher.

Texas marketing of Texas potatoes would be of great benefit to the producers, for during the period ending August, 1931, 511 carloads of yams were imported to the five cities of Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, San Antonio and El Paso, with no figures available as to importations to the rest of the State, nor as to exportations.

Letters to

The Editor.

Three timely articles on my desk have decided me to cut space on our correspondence this month and to give you the three at the same time. They have to do (1) with the comfort of the home, (2) with the stocking of the pantry, and (3) with the enlightenment of the hostess. And after you've read them you will see how each suggestion is closely related to the other. I might suggest that after the summer guests have arrived, then is the time for "A May Outing", on the "Veranda for Added Comfort" on hot summery nights, and instead of grape preserves in the menu, why not serve strawberry jelly or jam, as "Strawberries are Here Again." And as each article proves—it will be an easy way to save money and enjoy life after all with simple comforts, conveniences and celebrations in the farm household.

We are indebted to Mrs. Frazier for the first and last articles. Thanks.

A VERANDA MEANS ADDED COMFORT.

By Juliette Frazier.

I have often wondered why it is that so many farm houses are built without any verandas or porches. Among those that have porches, there are very few that have porches spacious enough to be either useful or attractive.

Recently we moved into a house which had three small porches, none of which were large enough to be useful, only as it seemed for the accumulation of wash tubs, tools, oil cans, paint and what not.

One day I received word that some of my city friends were planning on paying us an extended visit in the near future. This set me wondering how I would solve the bed room problem, since we had no spare bed room for their accommodation.

Suddenly it occurred to me that the three small porches could be torn down and a large veranda might be built along one side of the house. Of course, this veranda would need to be quite spacious and attractive because it probably would serve as our favorite living and dining room during the summer months, and by putting a bed in one corner, with a screen set up in front of it, the bed room problem for my guests would be solved.

The veranda was built on the east side of the house where we would be favored with the rays of the morning sun and the cool breeze in the afternoon. It is ten feet wide and almost fourteen feet long.

Since we were planning on spending a great deal of our time in this improvised living room, we decided that the front sides should be boarded up to a height of about four feet. Above this, we would have windows which could be opened when the weather was favorable. But a little figuring showed us that our small income was not sufficient to justify us in the expenditure of buying glass panes for the entire length and side of our veranda. However, we bought the window frames and several yards of a good grade of imitation glass and filled the frames with that. Besides being much more economical than ordinary glass, this imitation glass lets in the ultra-violet sun rays which is a great promoter of health, and it affords absolute privacy without the necessity of curtains or shades.

The cost of the lumber required for building this veranda did not amount to much, because a great deal of the lumber from the old porches was used in its construction. Our two hired men did the carpenter work and I did the painting, thus the labor did not cost very much either.

The floor of the veranda which is made of rather rough lumber was covered with linoleum of a pattern which does not easily show the dirt.

Besides the dining room table and chairs which occupy the center of the room, there are two comfortable wicker rocking chairs which I picked up at a second-hand dealer and renovated by giving them a coat of enamel. A large comfortable porch swing fitted with several soft pillows is suspended from the ceiling at one end of the veranda inviting those seeking rest. While a small oil heater is in readiness to be used when the weather turns chilly.

The other end of the veranda forms a very comfortable bed room. Besides the day-bed, which serves as a lounge in day time, there is a wash stand, a small wicker table and two chairs, a boudoir lamp, and a small clothes closet which has been built against the wall for the convenience of the guests.

The comfort and convenience which the veranda has added to our farm home is not to be compared with the little expenditure of time and money invested in its construction.

STRAWBERRIES HERE AGAIN.

Housewives will be glad to learn that one of the most wonderful strawberry crops in recent years is crowding the local markets. Jelly makers in particular will see in these berries the opportunity to start stocking their jam and jelly cupboards for the winter months that lie ahead.

And this year we have really unusual berries. Red, luscious, sweet, large. And because the supply is so tremendous, prices have naturally been reduced to the lowest levels in several seasons. In these hard times jam and jelly offers an easy way to save money. There are very few spreads that can be made quite so economically.

Here are two tested recipes that the housewife will want to use. You will notice that all of them call for the modern, short-boil method. This method is suggested because it offers the most economical way to make jelly—since it increases the number of glasses that can be secured from a given amount of fruit.

Strawberry Jelly

4 cups (2 lbs.) juice
7 1-2 cups (3 1-4 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin
To prepare juice, crush thoroughly or grind about 3 quarts fully ripe berries. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1-2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 11 eight-ounce glasses.

Sliced Strawberry Jam

4 1-2 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
1-2 bottle (1-2 cup) fruit pectin
To prepare fruit, cut about 2 quarts fully ripe berries in halves

TEAM TOTAL 432 115 .266

Friday morning, the first period, the Senior English and the Sophomore Spanish Classes decided to test their lungs as the grades have been doing all year. According to the Study Hall the High School has the grades beaten. The first thing on the program was the song, "Springtime in the Rockies" by the English class. While this was going on the Spanish class started "Buenas Noches Damas". Then came "Sweetly Sings the Donkey", "Ei-ei-o", and "Springtime in the Rockies" again. "We" got tired of hearing their beautiful voices so the fire-gong was rung, and everyone went flying. This of course ended our cantata.

Reverend Good (at baptism): His name please?

Mother: Algernon Phillip Percival Reginald Mortimer Duckworth.

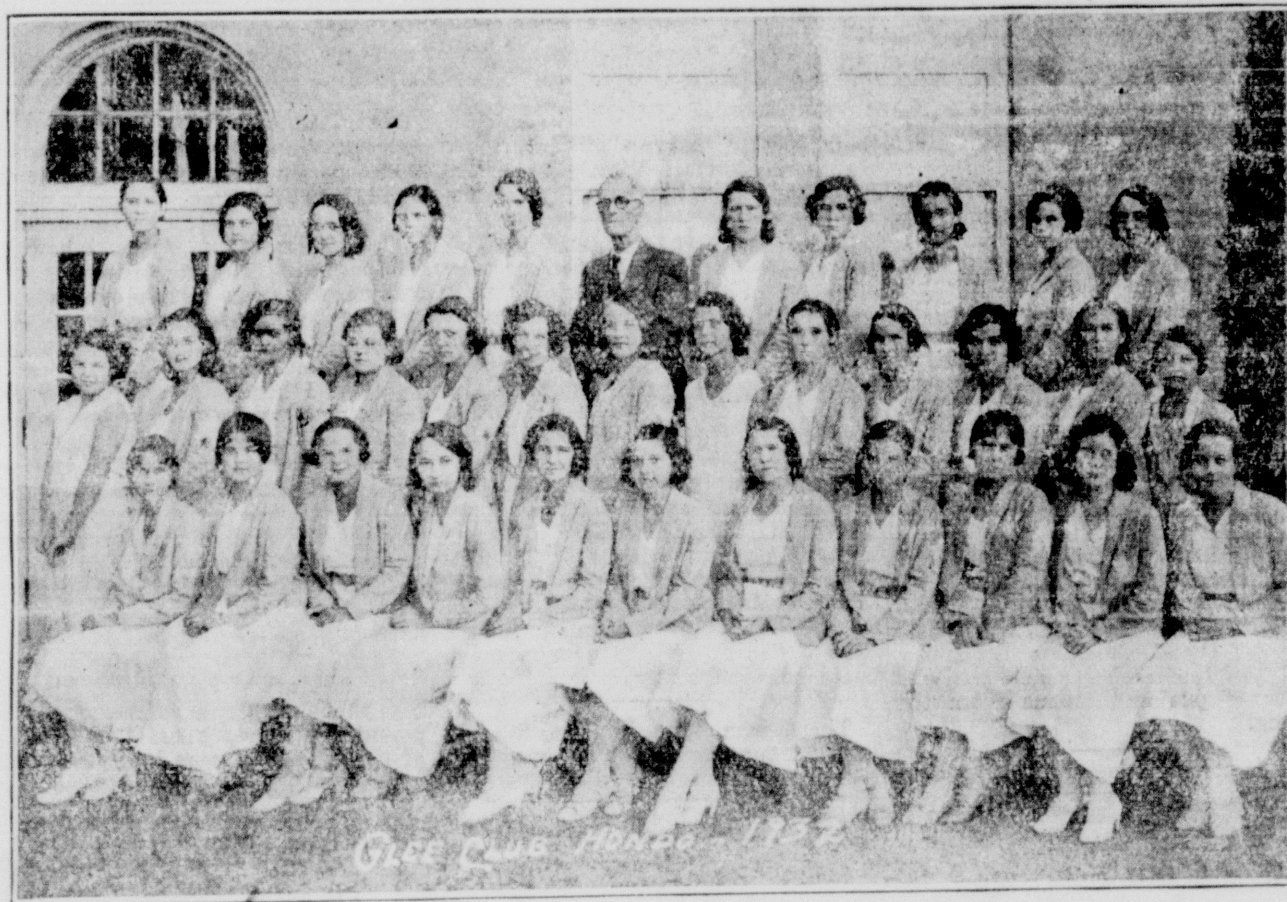

Reverend (to his assistant): A little more water please.

FOOTBALL SQUAD.

It would be the height of folly to predict the chances of the Owls next year until all the prospective players weather the storm of final exams.

On paper the Owls look like the class of this "neck of the woods", but may I remind you, gentle reader, that football games are not won on paper. There will be a wealth of material next year and it will be a merry battle for every position on the team. The backfield is the only worry right now. The men reporting for spring "skull" practice are: Deckert, Noonan, Lancaster, Hendrickson, Schweers, Smith, Rothe, Tom Finger, Ney, Crouch, Jones, Miller, Oefinger, Meyer, Tomerlin, Haegelin, Schuehle, Aug. Finger, Garteiser, Taylor, Stiegler, Parsons, Mechler.

HIGH SCHOOL GLEE CLUB.

A May Festival was given Tuesday night on the lawn of the High School by the High School Glee Club, the music classes of Mrs. O. A. Fly and Mr. Ed. Armstrong, and the dancing pupils of Mrs. Kathryn Armstrong. The setting was a Japanese tea garden. The gay Japanese lanterns and the bright kimonos of the performers added to the charming effect. A program of songs, dances, instrumental numbers and several numbers by the orchestra was given. The Firecrackers and Senior Octette in lovely Japanese kimonos served the audience as Japanese waitresses with punch, sandwiches and cake.

This was one of the best programs given recently and a record crowd was in attendance. The unusualness added greatly to the attraction.

This was back in the days when Indians were savages and Colonists were sorry for it. The game I'm going to tell you about was played at the Jamestown Stadium between the Indian Savages and the Jamestown Colonists. On the side-lines were the respective pep squads of the teams, that of the Savages being led by Pocahontas and that of the Colonists by Priscilla Alden.

Finally the teams came on the field with Captain John Smith leading the Colonists and Chief Powhatan that of the Savages. The game was started with a bang, which was the shot of a cannon and the Savages kicked to the Colonists. Raleigh received that ball on the ten yard line and made a beautiful return of three yards before he was scalped by Choluta. De Gama next made a nice gain of several yards before he got in a clinch with Nootha, but the referee ran to his rescue and he was soon on his way to a touchdown. The quarter ended with a score of 6-0.

The second quarter was very exciting and the Savages came within scoring distance three times, but with the loss of their captain who was put out for unnecessary roughing with a tomahawk, they were unable to score. The Savages also lost Ponca, who was put out for hacking. The Colonists made several more touchdowns before the half ended.

At the half refreshments of Banana Pie, Devil's Food Cake, and Cocoa Cola were served to the respective players and coaches.

At the beginning of the half Coach Columbus sat on the bench, continuously pulling his hair because of the way his team played. Hiawatha made the only touchdown that the Savages got at the end of the third quarter, and you should have heard Pocahontas yell.

The last quarter was somewhat similar to the others with the Colonists scoring several touchdowns. The best play of the game was a punt by a Savage which was so far that it went over all the Colonists. When just above Don Quixote (Quick Shot), the crafty man, he drew his six shooter and after firing several times punctured the ball which caused it to drop right in his hands. He immediately saddled his steed and galloped for another touchdown.

The Colonists won the game by scoring 263 points, to 6 for the Savages. The Colonists scored four touchdowns and six technical touchdowns. Individual high-point man was Daniel Boone with 49 points. Captain John Smith was second with 24. The only record that fell was that of the 100-yd dash which was won by Don Quixote in 15.2 seconds. De Soto had the best batting average by knocking out six Savages with three times at bat. At the end of the game the peace-pipes were smoked and Boone was awarded a box of handkerchiefs for high and Powhatan was given a cap-pistol for consolation.

Despite the many time-outs and penalties it was a good game and Jamestown won the National Championship that year and Captain John Smith made the All-American Team!

The Spanish Club held its last meeting with a Mexican dinner at the Original Restaurant in San Antonio.

After the first course of a regular Mexican dinner, el presidente, Jack Muennink gave his "evening address." This was followed by "Un Cuento de Amor", which was passed around and each member wrote one sentence of the story. Then the story was read and caused much amusement because it was about two of the present members. Mary Ruth Wilson played "Sorita" for us. The second course was followed by the Firecrackers' songs of "Golondrina" and "Adios". Then Mr. Fluker gave his farewell address to the Spanish Club of '32.

At the close of the meeting the members sang their favorite song, "Buenas Noches Damas". Everyone left to go riding and "window-shopping" through San Antonio. Those present were: Gen Brucks, Mary Ruth Wilson, Bernice Chancey, Bernice Speece, Virginia Ulbrich, Billy Fusselman, Gladys Fusselman, Tusnelde Wurzbach, Elvira Schweers, Viola Uhl, Margaret Dillon, Thelma Wilson, Mary Lois Barnes, Dorothy Ann Eckhart, Miss Tweedy and Miss Boyd, Mr. Fluker, Mr. Flory, Homer Pichot, Jack Muennink, Robert Zuberbueler, August Finger, Thomas Holloway, Joe Haegelin and Frank Rucker.

Everyone of us, with but few exceptions, when surprised, disappointed or angered, use some "by-word" or unnecessary slang. We all know we do not need any kind of slang, for it not only shows disrespect to the English language but it lowers the standards of this great language of ours. If we were true Americans, we could not under any circumstances be brought to abuse anything of our country that upholds the higher standards of living. Then why do we, in cold blooded murder, cut up our language with this knife—slang? Can we truly be called Americans and stand by to allow such a thing! Adorn yourselves with the helmet of respect, the breastplate of love, the shield of carefulness and the sword of better English, so as to save and protect our language from the deadly foe—SLANG!

Soon the students of Hondo Hi are going to meet the final test to see if they are fit to pass on to the next lap of their journey through school. Soon we will be saying good-by to our books and studies until we take them up again in the fall.

It takes many hours of tedious work to pass our courses. By the list of failures on the bulletin board, it looks as if some of the students were "in bad", but nearly everyone has a chance. Start the exams with the determination to pass them with a grade satisfactory to yourself and to your teacher. Had you rather apply yourself for a few weeks now or face the issue for another nine months? Go into the examinations determined to make Hondo Hi proud of you rather than ashamed of you.

Hans, did you hear the step-ladder fall?

Yes, Mummy.

I hope your daddy hasn't fallen.

No, he's still hanging by his waistcoat to the picture hook.

"Artford, Artford," called the conductor.

"You've dropped an 'h,'" said a passenger.

"That's all right, sir we'll pick him up hat Hamherst."

To those who are interested! School closes with the graduation exercises on May 24. We are sorry, very sorry that we will be without the present seniors and they will be out of dear old Hondo High School the rest of the school's life.

No one is sad that school is turning out and we sincerely hope that no one will venture near the doors until next September.

If one would only stop long enough to look over the knowledge gained one school year, he would resolve to do better next year because "good instruction gathered in youth will be worth more than riches".

Of course with the close of school this paper will cease, too. The Owl Staff hereby wishes to thank its patrons of the past year, and we hope that you will subscribe next year!

SO LONG UNTIL SCHOOL OPENS NEXT YEAR!

HONEY BRAN COOKIES.

1-2 cup honey
2 teaspoonfuls butter
2 eggs
1-4 to 1-2 teaspoon soda
1-2 cup flour
1 cup bran
1-8 teaspoonful powdered anise seed.

Rub together the butter and honey; add the eggs unbeaten and beat the mixture thoroughly. Sift together the flour, soda and anise seed. Combine all the ingredients; drop from a teaspoon on to a buttered tin and bake in a moderate oven.

FOR THE BEEKEEPER

Greatly reduced prices on bee supplies are heralded over the country, while the price is but slightly less on beehives our honey-brings 75 cents per 10 pound pail, and comb foundation is quoted at 50 cents per pound while the cash price for beeswax is 9 cents per pound for the best.

Mr. Emmet Baxter of Pennsylvania lauds his honey from the swamp districts. I had some from the Louisiana swamps sent me that had the smell like a barrel full of best fish scales, yet the beeman thought it was just wonderful honey. Tastes differ; if they did not, how on earth could Louisiana beemen get rid of their rank-tasting, ill-smelling stuff?

Henry Brenner of Seguin advises how to make increase in the number of colonies of bees. A rather cute advice, when honey is quite low in price, and people are mostly starving or at least on short rations. It is the laboring man and his family who eat but when they have no money they cannot buy, notwithstanding the bal-lahoo of Hoover, and other pets of the plutocrats.

Comb honey, wrapped in Cellophane and waxed into a pasteboard is sold by Mr. Reif of Kalona, Iowa. It appears like a sellable article and same can be produced much cheaper than in the 1 pound sections, because the bees will more readily work in the regular frames than in the little sections, and the cost per pound will be less, with less labor to the beeman.

Leo Haughey of Kansas thinks that the blowings of Station XER at Via Acuna does not hurt us much. Of course not, Mr. Haughey, as long as he sells clover honey, and as long as he asks $3.00 for a 10 pound pail he will not hurt me. But because he says that practically all honey sold in stores, (where most of mine is sold), is adulterated, then I feel like giving him a hard undercut, below his chin. The Purefood regulation law could find no adulterated honey in the U. S. Therefore, Dr. Brinkley is either a prevaricator or an idiot, or perhaps both at the same time.

J. W. Barney, a Yankee beeman, says that everyone can produce honey, but to standardize it, and sell it economically is another thing. Mr. Barney is terribly mistaken. It takes certain weather, controlled by the All-wise Ruler of the Universe, to make flowers secrete nectar that the honey bees condense into the consistency of a thick syrup to make honey. The beeman can only help his bees in giving them the surplus room at the proper time, but in the making of honey he is as helpless as a baby.

Dr. J. R. Bagby says for a "pep" and energy mixture without bad after effects try this: One pound honey, one half a pound grated horseradish. Mix; eat a spoonful several times a day. It creates energy and tends to eliminate pus and mucus from the system.

their horn in favor of everybody country, especially so if a few good planting Chinese Vitex trees for shade, and as a bee pasturage plant, and they sell little one-year-old trees from 25 cents up to $3.00 each. Just as well plant the Mexican maguay or "Century Plant" as some call it. It cannot be beat as a honey producer. The only trouble is that it blooms after it is 16 to 20 years of age, but pulque can be fermented from its plant juice, which yields mescal when distilled.

The "mild" winter of 1931 to 1932 has come with a vengeance and destroyed practically all early flowers such as huajilla, catclaw and mesquite, and wild black persimmon is frozen back severely. Of course, it is tough on us poor beemen, for we have a chance of not getting much white honey this year.

Those who have bees in the all-huajilla country would perhaps better move them into the horsemint

Carl Kelthoff of Missouri bewails the past mild winter as leaving too many insect pests to live over winter to destroy the fruit and vegetable crops. Since the above was written Mr. Kelthoff got his fill of cold weather, I hope. Most fruits, vegetables and honey plants are either winter killed, or so badly damaged that the insect pests might run up against a hungry month in June. We know that the insects lived through this spell of cold, they always do, but what are they going to eat in late spring and early summer? Farmers, get a move into yourself; have pity on the insects.

W. S. Hart of Edgewater, Florida, says that in 1894 he extracted 41,000 pounds of honey from 116 colonies of bees and put same into 101 forty-gallon barrels, then he went out of business. Although Mr. Hart is past 80 years of age and a cripple from a fall out of an orange tree, he seems to be able to handle quite a lot of hot air.

PROPER PACKING OF WOOL IMPORTANT.

Whether wool prices are low or high it pays to prepare and pack the clip properly for delivery, the National Wool Marketing corporation suggests as it prepares for arrival of wool to be sent by 35,000 wool growers of the United States this year. Growers can save themselves many dollars by using care in handling the clip at shearing time, it is pointed out by J. Byron Wilson, McKinley, Wyoming, general manager of the cooperative.

"The plea to growers to take better care of their wool while shearing and packing is an old, old story that is always new and worth repeating, especially at this time of the year before work in the sheds is begun", Wilson said. "This year the need for better handling is more apparent than ever, since prices are unfavorable and supplies are plentiful."

"When the market prices are good the penalties for improperly packed wool are all the traffic will bear. When prices are as low as at present, it is difficult to sell inferior and poorly packed wool at all."

"Growers are giving more attention than ever before to proper packing of wool, but even today every wool warehouse in the country contains plenty of examples of improperly packed clips. There will be a few fleeces tied with the weather side out, some loaded with chaff and dirt from shearing, others with dung locks rolled inside, a few tied with binder twine and some bags with the gray and black wool thrown in with the white fleeces."

"Mill buyers appear to have remarkably keen eyesight when it comes to spotting imperfections. They can see defects from afar and when they try to strike a bargain for a particular lot of wool, the imperfections are emphasized to the utmost, usually considerably more than conditions warrant."

"The first requisite to good market demand is good wool. Frequently growers fail to realize full value on good wool because of indifference or careless methods at shearing time. Proper packing is the most important item. It is particularly desirable that our 35,000 cooperative members use diligence in shearing and packing their clips to bring the best possible returns. Cooperative wool is sold strictly on its merits. Poor packing means extra grading and handling costs at assembling points to put the clip in marketable condition."

"Rules to be observed in shearing and packing wool are simple and it costs no more to do things the right way."

"Shear only when wool is dry. Shear in a clean place. Keep dirt and chaff out of the wool. Keep the fleeces intact after clipping off the tags and stained wool. Roll the fleece with the flesh side out. Tie each fleece separately with paper twine. Never use binder twine or string. Pack the dead, gray, seedy, burry wool and tags separately."

"Much wool is penalized because of excessive use of branding paint. This is one of the most difficult problems faced by the industry today, by growers and manufacturers alike. Growers should avoid having too much paint on the fleeces, as this usually is difficult to remove. Only standard branding paints should be used. Insoluble branding fluids must be clipped off by hand before the wool can be made into cloth. This is expensive and the cost is discounted from the fleeces."

A FEW RULES IN PIG RAISING.

By J. W. Recknor, Jr.

The first principle in successful hog raising is pure-bred stock. It is all right to raise crosses for the market, but never use them for breed sows. But it is well to stick to one breed, and occasionally you may sell a pig for breeding purposes.

Second, I would say that it will not pay to let the pigs become stunted, either for breeders or market hogs. Keep them growing right from the start.

Proper feeding will keep the pigs growing, provided they are not held back by other causes. Shorts, milk, tankage, corn, etc., will make bone, muscle, and fat.

Worms and lice will hinder development. It is a good plan to raise pigs on new premises to avoid worm infestation. Worms and pigs don't grow well together. Lice are easy to keep down with crank case oil. A few gunny sacks saturated with the oil and wrapped around posts near the ground where the hogs rub themselves will help greatly to keep them free of lice.

Hogs do not drink much water at a time, but drink often. Keeping plenty of fresh water before them will prove worthwhile. Avoid the filthy hog wallows. Here disease lurks.

At the first sign of sickness, separate the sick ones from the herd. It pays to vaccinate against hog cholera, etc. It is risky to raise hogs these days without vaccination.

Provide a green pasture for the hogs. For brood sows and their litters, a protein pasture should be used.

Raising hogs is a simple matter if a few rules are observed. As a rule hogs are healthy and have good appetites. If that appetite is satisfied with the right sort of feed, and they are kept free of parasites it will be no trouble to make real hogs out of good pigs.

CASTROVILLE CULLINGS.
Castroville, May 11, 1932.

SOCIAL CLUB.

On Wednesday afternoon of last week Mrs. Will Nehr, assisted by Miss Norma Klassing, entertained the members of the Social Club and several other friends with a beautifully appointed party at her home. Graceful larkspur and other spring flowers in vases and floor baskets made an artistic background for the tables of players of "Forty-Two". A color scheme of pink and green predominated. The prize for high tally, a case of "savon" and bath salts, was won by Miss Josie Rothe. Mrs. Henry Nehr cut high for a lovely framed silhouette, and Miss Grace Zinsmeyer received a shopping booklet for low tally. Delicious refreshments of sandwiches, molded lime jello salad, celery cheese sticks, cream puffs and iced tea were served. The following were present: Mesdames Henry Muennink, M. A. Zinsmeyer, W. E. Aibrecht, Matt Koch, Oscar Rothe, John Koch, O. J. Reinhart, Henry Nehr, Louis Carle, Jr., Rely Carle, Wilfred Zerr, Miss Norma Klassing of San Antonio, Misses Cornelia Koch, Josie Rothe, Grace Zinsmeyer, Evelyn Koch, Lucy Rothe and the hostess.

D'HANIS TO OBSERVE WASHINGTON BICENTENNIAL.

In observance of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of Washington, many of the pupils of St. Anthony's School, D'Hanis-Public School, and Seco School, together with several adults, will soon be presented in a pageant, "In the Hearts of His Countrymen", by Miss Carrie Langfeld, Bicentennial chairman of D'Hanis. The pageant, which will be about a two hours' entertainment, consists of four episodes depicting the life of George Washington as boy, as Virginian Colonel, as General of the Revolution, and as President. Ferd Rock, Joe J. Rieber and Joe Finger will represent Washington at these different stages. Mr. Alphonse Boog will read the interpretations. Costumes, music and dancing of the Colonial period will be followed as closely as possible, so as to lend beauty as well as instructiveness to the program. Miss Josie Rothe is in charge of the music, both instrumental and vocal. Almost one hundred people will take part in the entertainment.

ST. ANTHONY'S COMMUNITY CLUB.

The St. Anthony's Community Club met in regular session on Friday afternoon at the Parish Hall. Preceding the business, Mrs. Arnold Finger, program chairman, presented the following entertainment: piano solo, Miss Verene Finger; recitations by Effie Poerner, Edward Koch and James Richter; two German songs by Brahms, including his "Lullaby", by Miss Sara Rothe; two poems, "Little Harbingers" and "His Dirty Little Hands", read by Miss Josie Rothe.

Mrs. Louis Carle, Jr., the newly-elected president, called the meeting to order, and Mrs. Louis Carle, Sr. led the prayer. The membership chairman, Mrs. Ed. Koch, called the roll, to which thirty members responded. Mrs. Hy. Weynand, treasurer, gave her report. In drawing names for hostesses for the next card party, Mrs. Frank Kimmerly reported the following names: Mesdames Alfred Zinsmeyer, Christina Rudinger, Louis Carle, Jr., Fred Hueser, Frank Kimmerly, and Miss Regina Sauter. The chairman announced a special meeting of the Club at the Parish Hall on Friday afternoon, June 10th.

"Did you ring, sir?" inquired the nurse of Billy Jones whose bell had been ringing for ten minutes.

"Oh, no," replied Billy, "I was tolling the bell. I thought you were dead."
